

MUREX FEMORALE.

CHARACTER GENERICUS.

Animal Limax.

Testa univalvis, spiralis, exasperata suturis membranaceis.

Apertura desinens in canalem integrum, rectum seu subadscendentem.

Lin. Lyst. Nat. p. 1213.

CHARACTER SPECIFICUS.

MUREX FEMORALE. M. testa varicibus decussatis trigona rugosa anterius nodulosa, apertura edentula anterius transversa.

Lin. Syst. Nat.

Gualt. test t. 50. f. c.

Seb. Mus. 3. t. 63. f. 7.—10.

Regenf. Conch 1. t. 2. f. 21.

---

Maria Indica præcipue incolit elegans conchyliuni magnitudine vera in tabula depictum.

599

RN

THE FEMORAL MUREX.

GENERIC CHARACTER.

Animal allied to a Slug.

Shell univalve, spiral, commonly roughened by membranaceous sutures.

Aperture, terminating in a strait or subascending channel.

SPECIFIC CHARACTER, &c.

Yellow-brown roughened MUREX, with subtrigonal ventricose body, and toothless aperture.

Argenv. t. 10. f. b. ?

Grew. Mus. Reg. Soc. t. 10. f. 4. ?

---

This elegant shell is chiefly found in the Indian Seas, and is represented on the plate in its natural size.